

NALA's FREE Level 3 FETAC qualification is now available to do online at www.writeon.ie

You can get a major award in:

- Employability
- ICT
- General Learning

You complete the course primarily online with free tutor support available by telephone.

You can do the course at your own pace and in the privacy of your own home, local library or workplace.

You can do the course in addition to other learning programmes you may be doing. You do not have to work towards an award – perhaps you just want to practise your skills.

It is confidential and free.

Recognising prior learning

If you already have the skills and knowledge to get this award, we can recognise this through recognised prior learning. This means you won't have to do the whole course – you will have to do an initial assessment and once you pass this, you can do the FETAC assessment to get your award.

What can you learn?

Based on the new FETAC Level 3 awards, you can learn:

- Computer Literacy
- Internet Skills
- Digital Media
- Career Preparation
- Health and Safety Awareness
- Communications
- Maths
- Managing Personal Finances
- Personal Effectiveness
- Personal and Interpersonal Skills

We also have a FETAC Level 2 programme online – see www.writeon.ie for this.

How to get started?
